DYNAMITE A CHURCH

Suffragettes Continue Their Reign of Anarchy In England.

DISTURB PUBLIC WORSHIP.

Militants Chained To The Seats Had To Be Forcibly Removed.

London, June 15.—A bomb was exploded in St. George's church, Hanover Square, last night. Evidence tends to show the explosion was the work of suffragettes, and coming so close on the bomb outrage in Westminster Abbey, the desecration of this famous edifice has increased alarm as to how far the militants intend to go. Three pews and three stained windows were damaged by the explosion. The famous painting of "The Last Supper," by Sir James Thornhill, which hangs over the altar was not damaged, although the window above it was splintered. Firemen found a square tin box and several pieces of candle in the overthrown pew, and a member of the congregation said the pew was occupied at the evening service by a woman in a check dress. On an envelope found in the church was written, "A Protest to the Torture of Women!"

While judges of the high courts and the lord mayor were attending service in St. Paul's cathedral Sunday, suffragettes interrupted with protests against the torturing of women. The service was delayed several minutes while two women chained to seats were removed.

A crowd yesterday overran a platform in Hyde park, where a militant flag was raised, before four men who were holding a meeting could begin their speeches. Police took the men to a station for protection. Two meetings in Hyde park of non-militant suffragette organizations were broken up and it required a strong police force to quell the disturbances.

DIVIDE ON NEW LINES

Councilman Gee Parts Company With The Once Dominant "Big Four" Faction.

The "Big Four," heretofore composed of Councilmen Southall, Russell, Carliss and Gee, went to pieces Friday night in the election of a policeman to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of B. F. Hadden. A special meeting was held for that purpose. Mr. Gee failed to vote with the other three, but made up a big four of his own and sprang a surprise by electing J. L. Cardin, who received the votes of Gee, Ducker, Woodriddle and Smith. The other three voted for Wayman Mitchell.

The claim is made that Mr. Cardin, who came from the Pembroke neighborhood about the first of the year, has not been in town the necessary six months to make him eligible and will not be allowed to qualify. If this turns out to be true, one of the new Big Four is authority for the statement that they have already agreed upon a second choice. In the meantime, the ordinance providing for the election of policemen by the Council became inoperative by the change of charter yesterday and the selection will now have to be made by appointment of the mayor, subject to approval of the council. Moreover, every member of the late fourth-class council is now necessary to make a quorum to transact business as a third-class city.

CIRCUIT COURT IN THIRD WEEK

Another Batch of Indictments Including One For Murder.

BASEBALL SUIT THROWN OUT.

Mrs. W. E. Boyd, Of Crofton, Granted A Decree of Divorce.

The suit of the Columbus Baseball Co. against the Hopkinsville Business Men's Association for $200 was thrown out of court on institution. R. L. Castleberry, former secretary, it was shown, agreed that the H. B. M. A. would pay the club's traveling expenses to this city for club practice last year he having no authority to make debts or bind the association.

The grand jury returned several more indictments, among them the following:

Dean Henry Meriweather, colored, sodomy alleged to have been committed upon the son of George Jake.

Burton Smith, willful murder, Smith is charged with killing Otho Jackson on March 9, 1914, by striking him in the head with a bed slat.

P. P. Wright, assault and battery. Luther Gray, grand larceny.

Jim Sales, horse stealing.

Robert Wilson, breaking into a dwelling house.

Bennie Williams, cutting and wounding in sudden affray.

William Hays, Jr., petit larceny.

A decree of absolute divorce has been granted to Mrs. Eva M. Boyd from her husband W. E. Boyd, of Crofton. The suit was brought on the grounds of cruelty and failure to provide.

WARNING TO TURKEY

Says 100,000 Greeks Have Been Forced to Flee—War Believed to Be Imminent.

Athens, Greece, June 12.—A warning to Turkey which fell little short of a formal declaration of hostilities was uttered today by Premier Venizelos of Greece in the chamber of deputies. He was speaking on the treatment of Greek subjects in Turkey.

The premier characterized the Turkish persecutions of Greeks as being "of a character such as history had never known until today, their object being the elimination of populations which had been living in those places for several thousand years."

Venizelos said the attention of Turkey had been repeatedly called to the dangers likely to arise from these persecutions, but the Turkish government's only reply was to attribute the movement to vengeance for the alleged sufferings of the Mussulman population in Macedonia. He estimated the number of Greek refugees who had already arrived in Greece or were waiting transportation at about 100,000 all of whom he declared, were abandoning their entire possessions in order to escape persecution.

Reports have been current for several weeks of unrest in the Balkans and of the ever-increasing acuteness of the situation between Turkey and Greece. A general feeling has prevailed in Europe that Turkey was preparing for another conflict with Greece with the object of reconquering the territory she had lost in the recent war. Expulsions of Greek subjects from Asia Minor as well as from European Turkey have been in progress for some time.

OFFICERS TO BE NOMINATED

For The Ensuing Year By Hopkinsville Business Men's Association Committee.

SIGN TO BE LOCATED SOON.

Freight Discrimination Discussed and Information Sought.

The H. B. M. A. held a well attended meeting Friday night. The matter of securing evidence of freight discrimination for L. A. Goodloe, who claims to be a representative of the Interstate Commerce department, was discussed at length. Secretary Bleich was instructed to ascertain what authority Mr. Goodloe has in the matter.

A committee was sent to wait upon the council to see if it would grant permission to extend the electric advertising sign offered by the company across Ninth Street. The council had adjourned, but the members agreed that permission would be granted, provided traffic was not interfered with. The location of the sign will be selected by the committee this week.

A committee composed of C. M. Meacham, chairman; A. H. Eckles, Sam Frankel, J. B. Allensworth and D. W. Kitchen was appointed to nominate a list of officers with the exception of secretary, who will be voted for next month. The secretary is elected by the board of directors, hence no nomination is to be made. The officers elected will serve for the ensuing year. The committee met last night to make the nominations.

WITH SHOCKING SUDDENNESS

Death Comes To Leslie Haydon, Aged Sixty-eight Years.

Mr. Leslie Haydon died very suddenly at three o'clock Saturday morning at his home at 1113 South Walnut street. He had a coughing spell and a fatal hemorrhage resulted, and he died before a doctor could be summoned. He had been up and about as usual the day before and while his health was poor, his condition was not considered serious, and his death was a great shock to his family.

He was born in Trigg county in 1846 and came to Hopkinsville from the Wallonia vicinity ten or fifteen years ago, and was engaged in the insurance business with J. T. Edmunds & Co. He served as city assessor in 1910 and 1911 and made one of the best assessors the city ever had. He is survived by a widow and 8 children, Hugh Haydon, of Wallonia, Mrs. Millard Bartley, Mrs. Otho McCord, Emmett Haydon, Lyman S. Haydon, Clyde Haydon, and Misses Ruth and Mary Haydon, of this city. He also leaves two brothers, Luther Haydon, of this city, and Edwin Haydon, of California, and a sister, Mrs. Ada Robinson, of Trigg county.

Mr. Haydon was a life-long member of the Methodist church. His funeral services were held by Rev. A. R. Kasey, at the residence, Sunday afternoon. The interment was in Riverside Cemetery.

Ready To Sign.

Washington, June 15.—Only President Wilson's signature is necessary to repeal the clause of the Panama canal act exempting American coastwise shipping from tolls. The long and bitter fight in congress came to an end when the house, after debate and without the formality of a conference, accepted by a vote of 216 to 71, the senate amendment specifically reserving all rights the United States may have under the Hay-Pauncefote treaty, or otherwise.

REGULAR ERUPTION

Of California's Volcano After Period of Geyser Activity.

ONE KILLED, OTHERS HURT.

Volcanic Fire Emitted and Debris Thrown 2,000 Feet In Air.

Redding, Cal., June 15.—Mt. Lassen finally erupted with volcanic fire Sunday, and one man is reported killed, one injured and two driven temporarily insane as a result of the terrific outburst from the crater, which had been latent for many years.

Reports that seem to be authentic came that a party of eight men who had ventured near the crater just before the sixth eruption were overwhelmed by a sudden explosion that sent a mass of rock, ashes and thick smoke some 2,000 feet in the air.

A rock fell on the head of Lansing Graham, a lumberman, of Viola, Cal., according to the report, and crushed him to death. Another man in the party was severely injured. The man, with the aid of his companions, fled from the scene as rapidly as possible. The report added that one of the men later became demented because of the terrible experience. Two others are said to be missing.

There was a seventh outbreak of the peak last evening and persons at Red Bluff reported flames could be seen issuing from the greatly enlarged crater. The latent volcano seemed to be in full eruption after nearly two weeks of what appeared geyser activity. Steam and vapor had been emitted and some rocks and ashes had been reported during the intervening outbreaks.

RECOGNITION BY U. S. PROVIDED

Protocol Signed Covering Provisional Gov. for Mexico After Huerta Resigns.

NAMES FOR PRESIDENT NOW.

Mediators Insist Carranza's Delegates Will Not be Rec'd Without an Armistice.

Niagara Falls, Ont., June 15.—Delegates from the United States and the Huerta government Friday formally affixed their signatures in the presence of the mediating representatives of Argentina, Brazil and Chile, to the first protocol of the series through which it is hoped to restore peace in Mexico.

The agreement reached in relation to the manner of transferring the executive power from Huerta to the new provisional government, stood the acid test of reduction to writing. It provides that:

"A government is to be constituted in Mexico of a character to be later provided, which shall be recognized by the United States on (date to be affixed) and from that date forward shall exercise public functions until there shall be inaugurated a constitutional president."

This plank in the peace plan was reduced to the form of a protocol after more than three weeks of discussion, in the last three days of which so serious disagreement, had arisen that the success of the entire mediation program was threatened. The brief protocol was significant of two things:

HUERTA IS NOT MENTIONED.

It makes no mention of Gen. Huerta as the provisional president, and, as stated in the Associated Press dispatches last night, it omits the method of transfer which the Mexican delegates and mediators suggested and to which the United States strenuously objected on the ground that its retention would be tantamount to recognition of the existing regime. The Mexicans provided that Huerta should name as minister of foreign affairs the man agreed upon here as provisional president.

The omission of references to the method of succession and the flat statement that on a certain date a provisional government shall arise in Mexico to which the United States will accord recognition, satisfies the insistence of the American delegates that no steps shall be taken that could be construed as a recognition of Huerta.

On the other hand, the Mexican delegates while abandoning the constitutional form of succession as a part of the protocol, are satisfied because it does not specifically deny Huerta's right to name as minister of foreign affairs the man chosen here for provisional president, if the latter accept designation from him. It is not considered probable, however, that the new provisional president, who is likely to be a constitutionalist, would take the executive power directly from Huerta, but he might do so from some other individual whom Huerta might leave in authority.

NAMES FOR PRESIDENT NEXT.

As for the American delegates, they consider the method of transfer a closed incident. All parties are now concentrating on the second part of the peace plan, which will form another protocol. It relates to the names of the provisional president and probably will include his cabinet officers.

The next conference will be devoted entirely to the discussion of individuals.

Five Killed.

Five men are dead and ten are in a Columbus, O., hospital, perhaps fatally injured, as the result of a gas explosion in a trench in which a gang of laborers were laying a main.

of the Populist party in 1896 in Kentucky, now lives at Parma, Mo. He peals and was defeated.

Predicting that within a month there would be more jobs in the United States than men, Secretary Wilson said to be hoped to solve the problem of getting men to fill the place. His forecast was based on the bumper wheat crop, revival of the iron trade, mining and the textile industry.

It is reported that the long expected estrangement between Carranza and Villa is rapidly nearing a crisis. Reports from the South are that Villa has shown great resentment at Carranza's recent attitude toward him, especially in the Natera appointment. Carranza has ordered Villa to proceed immediately to assist Natera in his attack on Zacatecas.
This, officially announced, was taken as having a direct bearing on the relaxation of Villa, commanding the northern zone.

James R. Lemon, of Mayfield, was promoted from vice president to the presidency, of the Kentucky Press Association, and James B. Stears, of Nicholasville, was elected vice president. He was chairman of the executive committee during the present year. John B. Gaines, of Bowling Green, succeeded Mr. Stears. President Lemon announced the followmittee: R. J. McBryde, Jr., Louisville; F. M. Thomason, Georgetown; Woodman May, Somerset, and John J. Berry, Paducah.

In his address before the Tennessee bar association Friday, Attorney General James C. McReynolds said that one of his most arduous and disagreeable duties is to superintend the publicity of the administration of which he is a part, so that the people may know what the government is doing. "Those not in direct touch with the situation have no idea to what extent certain portions of the press will go in order to misrepresent the work of various departments at Washington in order to subserve their own interests," he said.

An agreed order, restraining the state rating board from enforcing the Glenn-Greene act, was entered Friday afternoon in the Franklin circuit court. Attorneys R. S. Gordon and Robert Drake, of Louisville, and Guy Briggs, of Frankfort, returned from Paris after consulting Judge Stout and filed the suit in behalf of a committee of the Merchants and Manufacturers' Association who allege that the law would increase the expenses of fire insurance companies, which would increase the premiums to be paid for insurance, wherefore they are personally interested. Those named in the petition as complainants are: A. M. Larkin, of Covington; Charles J. Davis, of Newport;
S. P. Browning, of Maysville; C. M.
Bullitt and Paul J. Marrs, of Henderson and William Hayburn and Alfred Brandeis, of Louisville. They allege that the law is unconstitutional, the context not confirming to the

ROAD BUILDING

USE BURNED CLAY ON ROADS

Sticky or Plastic Qualities Are Destroyed and Bears Traffic in Wettest Kind of Weather.

(By OLIVER BENNOCK, Colorado Agricultural College.)

In some sections of the country the only material available from which roads can be constructed is clay. In such localities traffic is almost entirely impossible during the wet seasons, as the wheels of the heavy vehicles will sink to the hub.

In order to correct this condition, the United States office of public roads made the experiment of burning the clay. It was found that by burning the clay, even at a moderate heat, its Colo.—One of the Best Examples of sticky or plastic qualities are destroyed, so that even in the wettest weather it will bear traffic. This permits the firing of the clay along the entire length of the road, thus avoiding the cost of hauling it, and at the same time gaining the advantage of burning the foundation of the road as well as the material to be placed upon it.

Good solid wood is laid at intervals along the side of the road, about one cord for eight linear feet of roadbed, twelve feet wide. The road bed is first evenly graded and then plowed as deeply as practical. Furrows about four feet apart are then dug across the road and extended beyond the part to be burned on either side. The first course of cord wood is laid longitudinally, so as to fire a series of flues in which the firing is started. From 15 to 20 of these flues are fired at once.
The rest of the cord wood is then placed on this flooring and then the clay is placed over the whole structure as evenly as possible, in a layer of not less than six to eight inches.
This is tamped and rounded off, so that the heat will be held within the flues as long as possible.

After burning, the road is graded and rolled until the road bed is smooth and hard.

GOOD ROADS AID SANITATION

If All Highways Were Improved There Would Be Appreciable Betterment of Public Health.

Friends of good roads should add to their usual arguments one which is not so frequently used, but is very important—namely, that good roads are direct aids to sanitation.

Weeds and other rank vegetable growths are prolific breeders of flies, mosquitoes and other disease-carrying insects. Sound road building causes the removal of weeds and similar trash. Weed and brush undergrowth by the roadside invite deposit of garbage and offal. Good roads do away with these disease-breeding agencies.

Good roads also prevent disease by providing good drainage. Many farms have no drainage except by ditches along the side of the road. Open ditches, clear of brush and debris, of hard surface and proper fall afford farms an opportunity to rid themselves of stagnant pools.

Oiling of roads destroys insect larvae. Dry, hard roads also enable pedestrians, especially the thousands of school children who, in country localities, walk quite a distance to and from school, to keep their shoes and stockings dry, thus preventing colds, and their frequent consequences, pneumonia and tuberculosis.

Logical tracing of effects to causes leaves no ground for doubt that if all the roads in the United States were good roads there would be appreciable betterment of the public health.

FASHIONS FOR WOMEN

Subject of Dress Discussed By Mrs. R. J. Burdette Before Women's Club.

Chicago, June 12.—The subject of dress came before the women gathered here for the biennial convention of the general federation of women's club. Mrs. Robert J. Burdette, of Pasadena, Cal., discussed it in its relation to morals, while the assemblage itself, by a great majority, exemplified the beauties of dress simplicity. Mrs. Burdette spoke to an expert and appreciative audience.

"With forbidden knowledge," said the speaker, "came self-consciousness and with self-consciousness came the sense of shame and the protective garment—and thus did the transgressions of our first parents cover all future generations with a blanket mortgage of clothes which we are paying off with heavy interest.

"Whether clothes were first worn as an ornamental covering or for protection matters for we seem even to this day to consider the first of prime importance. No matter if the neck is exposed nearly to the waist line and the limbs to the knee, the style to be followed, health and sug-gestiveness are lost sight of in the craze to be in fashion.

"Fashions, especially French fashions, are not designed for good women. They will not spend enough money to suit the merchant. That is the reason that every new fashion is designed originally for demimonde of Paris."

The speaker herself clad in unostentatious white, asserted that American women are clothes-mad and that nowhere else is seen the same elaborate over-dressing save among the declassé women abroad.

Throughout Europe," she continued, "the women of high nobility and social position are like wrens compared with the cockatoos of the half-world. It is an unpleasant thought that it is the latter who set the standard which our fashionable women follow with native avidity."

The speaker gave especial emphasis to this statement:

"The following of fashion dictation causes foolish women to eat their hearts out with longing they cannot afford to gratify; leads to unhappiness; the ruin of homes and the bartering of virtue itself."

Mrs. Burdette said that women should determine for themselves what style of dress most becomes them, and then stick to that style.
American women are too independent, too individual, she admitted, to be content with a national costume.

Do one thing today in a woman's life more saps her strength, time, means and nervous vitality than the triple-headed lion that guards every event in daily life in the form of the questions, "What shall I wear?" "How shall it be made?" and "How shall it be paid for?"

Season Tickets for Our Forthcoming Redpath Chautauqua

In arranging to inaugurate this chautauqua this year the local committee bought 1,000 $2.50 season tickets, which will be sold, while they last, by them for $2.00 each.

When these tickets are exhausted no season tickets thereafter can be had for less than $2.50. Also, the price of season tickets will not be reduced from the first day to the close of the chautauqua.

The single admissions to the different sessions of this chautauqua aggregate more than $8.00, so it will pay you to buy a season ticket even after the program is half completed. For the single admissions to the respective entertainments see program. Season tickets are non-transferable except within the owner's family.

CHILDREN'S TICKETS admit children aged six to fourteen years inclusive. All children are admitted to the children's work free.

Ingram, Tex.—“Ever since I became a woman,” writes Mrs. E. M. Evans of this place, “I suffered from womanly troubles. Last fall I got so bad, I had to stay in bed for nearly a week every month. Since I have taken Cardui, I feel better than I have for years.” You can rely on Cardui. It acts on the womanly organs and helps the system to regain its normal state of health, in a natural way. Prepared especially for women, it prevents womanly pains, by acting on the cause, and builds up womanly strength in a natural way. Purely vegetable. Mild, but certain in action. Try it.

Pair of Hikers.

Lorenzo and Dixie Madero, twin brother and sister, reached Nashville Wednesday morning from Chicago, having walked the whole distance, they say, to win a wager of $2,400. They left Chicago at 8:30 on the morning of May 13, with a stipulated time of eight weeks to make the trip, and did the distance in exactly half the time allowed.

The two are circus performers, making a specialty of trapeze and bareback riding performances, and of course, Madero is not their real name. No amount of persuasion could extract from them their right names.

Cures Stubborn, Itchy

Skin Troubles.

“I could scratch myself to pieces” is often heard from sufferers of Eczema, Tetter, Itch and similar Skin Eruptions. Don't Scratch—Stop the Itching at once with Dr. Hobson's Eczema Ointment. Its first application starts healing; the Red, Rough, Scaly, Itching Skin is soothed by the Healing and Cooling Medicines. Mrs. C. A. Einfeldt, Rock Island, Ill., after using Dr. Hobson's Eczema Ointment, writes: “This is the first time in nine years I have been free from the dreadful ailment.” Guaranteed. 50c. at your Druggist.—Advertisement.

Down To Death.

At Goldfield, Nev., four people were killed when an auto went over a steep decline.

Dr. E. A. Wheeler, one of the best-known physicians of Nevada, who was driving the car, turned out to avoid another machine, skirted the edge of an embankment too closely and plunged over. Dr. Wheeler and Daniel Felvey were pinned under the car and killed outright. Cyrus Rice and Herman Kruger died in a Goldfield hospital. One other passenger escaped with bruises.

Emotions Expressed in Dancing.

In the Vedas of the Hindus, some of which date back 6,000 years before Christ, there is steady reference to dancing as an expression of triumph, worship, and even the deepest grief. It is the same in the Zendavestas of the Persians. Dancing with cymbals and tambourines, with bells tied to their ankles and wrists or around their waists, was an art that the priestesses in the temples must understand.

Charity.

The charity that begins at home and remains there is anemic. An occasional outing will do it good.—Judge.

Blackberry Outlook.

A country merchant who visited Lebanon a few days ago brought in a blackberry briar to show the town folks the blackberry prospect. The bush was literally hanging full of blossoms, and it looked mighty good to devotees of jam, cordial, pies, preserves and other good things which the rural housewives fix up when the blackberry crop is large. We rejoice to know that the outlook is so favorable. There's no sort of all-purpose berry like the blackberry. It is in a class by itself and it grows anywhere and everywhere—and nowhere better than in Kentucky.—State Journal.

CHAUTAUQUA TO OPEN WEDNESDAY

Will Be Held on Grounds Back Of Hotel Latham--Tickets Should Purchased Today.

Great interest is being manifested in the Hopkinsville Chautauqua, which will begin its third annual engagement Wednesday afternoon at 2:30. The local committee are much encouraged over the outlook and feel assured of its success.

The pledged tickets are being redeemed rapidly, though there are still quite a number left, which the people are urged to take up at once, thus helping the committee in charge and saving them much time and expense in delivering. Those who have not pledged should get their tickets at once, as the supply at $2.00 in the hands of the local men is limited. Tickets are on sale at the Anderson & Fowler Drug Co., J. O. Cook's, Averitt & Stowe Co.'s, Wright & Johnson's real estate office, Giant Insurance Agency and J. H. Anderson & Co.'s.

Supt. R. B. Alford, who will be in active charge during the week, arrived last night. The big tent is now being put up on the grounds immediately back of the Latham Hotel and all is being put in readiness for the opening Wednesday afternoon.

The Chautauqua has always been enjoyed by the Hopkinsville people and from the reports in the cities where this year's program has been given, it can be safely predicted that the entertainment this season will even give general satisfaction.

The Chautauqua has been well advertised in the surrounding towns and country, and we expect to welcome many from out of town during the week.

The Toll of Labor.

The most wonderful of photoplays will be placed on view at the Princess to-day, in the reproduction of Pathe's picture of pictures, "Germinal," or "Toll of Labor," the perfect story of which has been divided into five parts. It is a typical subject, vividly illustrating the everyday struggle of capital against labor, and introduces itself in the person of Etienne Lanier, a competent workman out of a position, whose tempestuous disposition is more than atoned for by a good heart; he finally secures work in the mines and becomes smitten with Catherine, who, dressed as a man, is wont to labor deep down in the earth, thereby creating a jealous feeling toward him on the part of Chaval, her accepted lover and an unworthy and violent man.

The screen from that point forward rapidly unfolds the various scenes which go to make up the thrilling and sensational climaxes which follow each other in rapid succession.

One of the strongest scenes is shown in the personal and heroic self-sacrifice made by the leader of the strikers, when he releases the bolts binding the barriers that control the waters of the mine and allows the floods to break loose and catches the miners like rats in a trap, and destroys the major portion of their little band of workers, and in the cataclysm which follows the scenes of "everyone for himself," beggars description. Realistic, indeed, is the response for aid from the regular troops, and their soldierly bearing, riot drill and final extermination of the lawless mob is a harrowing scene long to be remembered.

T. L. HUGHES,

Six Killed.

Lightning killed six persons and injured many in London during a severe electrical storm.

Send Him To Mississippi.

Cairo, Ill., June 15.—A bold attempt of assault by a burley Negro on a little 12-year-old blind white child early Friday morning was frustrated by the screams of the child. The little girl is a daughter of Ike Horner. Shortly after midnight the Negro entered the house through the front door carried the child from her bed to the back porch and attempted to gag her. She finally succeeded in freeing her mouth from his hands and screamed. Her screams awoke the parents and they went to the child's rescue. The Negro succeeded in getting away, but was finally captured before noon next day.

May Wear Their Own Aigrettes.

Women wearing aigrettes and other plumage from game birds, when they leave the United States will hereafter be permitted to wear the plumage back in this country. A Treasury decision to this effect was handed down in a case reported from Detroit. A woman wearing an aigrette, purchased six years before in New York, crossed from Detroit to Windsor, Ont. She returned to the United States within an hour, but custom's officers seized her aigrette.

Killed By Lightning.

During the electric storm yesterday, Sam Morris had two fine mules in his lot killed by lightning.

Pretty Hot, Eh?

Too hot to laugh, too hot to cry, Too hot to sing, too hot to sigh Too hot to sell, too hot to buy Too hot to live, too hot to die, Too hot to eat, too hot to sleep, Too hot to smile, too hot to weep, Too hot to give, to hot to keep, Too hot to sow, too hot to reap, Too hot to scold, too hot to whip, To hot to sneeze if you have the grippe, Too hot to drink, too hot to sip, But not too hot for a joy-ride trip. —Lexington Leader.

Falling Below.

Income tax returns have fallen below the original estimates and failed to offset the expected decrease in tariff receipts, with the result that the surplus in the treasury for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1914, falls about $10,000,000 below that of the preceding year.

"Moths" at The Rex.

Ouida's celebrated book "Moths" will be seen at the Rex today.

Lady Dolly Vanderdecken was a young widow who had lived in Paris for many years, enjoying the freedom from the conventional English life under which she had been brought up. Her only child, a daughter, was brought up by her dead husband's mother, the Duchess of Mull. The gay little butterfly resented the appearance of her grown daughter, Vere, at her hotel, as adding to her age.

Correze, a celebrated singer, falls in love with Vere, but Lady Dolly schemes to wed her to Prince Zouroff, a wealthy Russian, and the girl consents, though hating Zouroff.

After the marriage, Zouroff soon neglects his wife for the Duchess de Sonnaz, a dashing French woman. Finally Vere was compelled to forbid the Duchess to enter her home, and Zouroff sent her to his castle in Poland, but she remained unyielding.

Correze, through all these years remained faithful to the woman he loved, and when Zouroff publicly used his wife's name insultingly, the chivalrous tenor challenged him to a duel. The tenor was shot through the throat, and although his life was spared he could never sing again. Vere heard the news in Poland and hastened to his side, nursing him through his illness. Zouroff, enraged at his wife's conduct, secured a divorce and married the Duchess de Sonnaz, leaving Vere free to wed the man who had been willing to give up his life for her.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free. P. J. CHENEY, & CO., Toledo, Ohio. Sold by Druggists, etc. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

ALGY THE MARTYR

Only an Office Boy, but Love Transformed Him Into Real Hero.

If any member of the office force were asked his opinion of the new office boy he would invariably reply:
"Well, he's an infernally polite kid."

That described Algy in a nutshell.
There have been other qualities in the boy, but the obstacle which blocked all further investigation and hit you full in the eye was his abnormal deference and painfully
"apres vous, monsieur" manner.

Algy was slight and fair, wore huge spectacles and was much addicted to Buster Brown collars, so what else could you expect?

When McDowell rang for him on the first morning of his arrival, and Algy knocked discreetly on the door three times before turning the knob, and then thrust in his head to say, "Pardon me, Mr. McDowell, but did you ring?" the whole office gasped.

"Well, I'll be darned," exploded the head bookkeeper, ignoring the "no profanity" sign, "we've picked up a second edition of Little Lord Fauntleroy."

Algy went to Sunday school regularly, belonged to the Christian Endeavor and the Y. M. C. A., and took his wages home to his mother every Saturday night, so he told the office, but we had all heard that story so many times before. Anyway, he was pious in the extreme and always hastened from the room when McDowell swore at the office cat.

In a firm like ours the family interest never wanes. Each fellow's personal affairs have always been our affairs whether it was McDowell's divorce suit or the sartorial creations of the blonde stenographer.
And we added a new interest when we discovered that along with a near-Poiret blouse and a Rue de Rivoli hat made in New Jersey, Miss Hughes had annexed the puppy-like devotion of Algy.

But our attention was speedily diverted from the novelty of this situation by a deficit in the money returns through the mail. The firm dealt to some extent with out-of-town customers, and small amounts of cash came in frequently through the post office, sometimes in stamps, more often in special cards provided by the firm and fitted for the insertion of small coins to save the trouble and expense of postal orders for amounts under one dollar.

Suddenly we were deluged with complaints. Customers swore they had sent orders which the firm had never received. We were accused of swindles and get-rich-quick schemes of robbing the public. The correspondence department was in chaos and the mail-order profits became seriously affected. Finally Mc-Dowell sent for Detective Farland.

"How do you get your mail here?" was the first question the detective asked.

"Through the post office a block down the street. We have a strong box there. Only one key."

"Who has the key?"
"I do. At mail time the stenographer takes the key and gives it to the office boy, who gets the mail and turns it over to her. She sorts it and returns the key to me along with the firm's mail, which I open myself.
So you see—"

"How about the office boy? Think he needs watching?"
"Hardly," laughed McDowell.
"Ever see him? Well, you'd as soon watch a deacon in the church when he was taking up the collection."

"But see here, McDowell," said Farland. "It's ten to one that robbery doesn't occur before your mail reaches this post office station.
Steele & Denny have a box next yours; so has Harris. They're safe, so the fault must lie at your end of the line. We'll leave the stenographer out for a minute and take a look at the office boy. Remember, he has the length of a whole city block in which to juggle with that mail.
Give me that key for a half hour.
Will you? This is too simple."

McDowell laughed.
"You're barking up the wrong tree, Farland, but go ahead. Only don't let the poor kid know he's a suspected criminal or he'll have hysterics."

That afternoon Farland dropped in at the post office. On his way out of the building he met a neat-looking boy with a Buster Brown collar who held the door open for him politely and stood at attention until he had passed through.

Five minutes later Farland was in McDowell's office.

"Ring for the mail," he ordered.
"There should be seven letters, one from a James Green and one from Smith Bros., containing a quarter each."

With amazing promptness Algy answered McDowell's ring and handed him the mail with a courteous bow. Farland ran through it at a glance. The two letters were missing. He glanced sharply at Algy.

"Where is the rest of it?" he demanded.

"That is all, sir," answered Algy suavely.

"That is not all," said Farland sharply. "I was at the post office five minutes before you came in.
There were seven letters there then, there are five now. You will produce the missing two."

Algy paled a little.
"I haven't got them," was all Algy said. "You can search me."

We thought the boy was scared to death. We know better now.

Farland is a man of quick action.
A search revealed three quarters, two dimes and some pennies. Algy smiled politely, but Farland flipped over the coins and pointed to the backs of two of the quarters. A deep cross was scratched across the eagle on each one.

"I put those marks there myself before I inserted them in the envelopes and put them in the box."

He looked at Algy. There was a silence, then:

"I guess you've got me," said the boy quietly.

Algy was tried and sentenced to a term in the reform school. Several of us were called as witnesses and we never forgot the slight figure of the boy there in the prisoner's dock. There was nothing criminal about him. He looked rather like a young Galahad, as though he were transfigured by some inner radiance.
The affair left us with an uncon-fortable feeling as if we had somehow committed a sacrilege.

"That boy haunts me—" I began as McDowell and I started back to the office.

"For the love of Mike, forget it!" he snapped testily, "let's stop for a drink. Queer kid, I call him."

Not many weeks later we heard of Algy's death. We knew that many were dying of the same disease in town that winter, but somehow there was not one of us but felt that in consigning that child to the grim institution of youthful crime we had been accomplices to a murder.

Miss Hughes was out when the news came. When she came in some one told her. She wilted right down to the floor, just a pathetic little heap of tawdry finery. By the time she came to we had a cab ready to take her home, but she wouldn't go.
She crept into McDowell's office and stayed there a long time. When she came out she refused our aid again, but she felt her way down to the street like a blind woman. A few minutes later McDowell came out and spoke to us. His eyes were wet.

"Boys," he said, "we've made a ghastly mistake. The poor kid was innocent. Miss Hughes took that money. Algy knew—you saw how he worshiped her—and he tried to save her. The day Farland was here the boy suspected what was up and took the marked money. We didn't search any farther, and we convicted him easily on circumstantial evidence—circumstantial evidence!"

McDowell's face was working and he turned back to his office.

"It's too late to do anything now," he said before he closed the door,
"but I wanted you to know the truth about Algy."

BRITISH FLEET CHANGES.

insignificance of the British naval forces in the Mediterranean, Rear Admiral Moore has been appointed cruiser squadron, which will reinforce the present British Mediter-

TYPICAL NEWSPAPER COMMENT ON THE REDPATH CHAUTAUQUA OF 1913

The Tri-City Daily, Florence, Ala., says:

"Florence has been captured entirely by the Redpath Chautauqua and it is a safe bet that the chautauqua will not be allowed to pass this city by in the future."

In an editorial in the Albany, Ga., Herald this statement is made: "Thru this big organization with a string of 110 chautauquas scheduled we were enabled to have attractions that we could not have secured for a single assembly."

The Dyersburg, Tenn., State Gazette said editorially: "We will all be sorry when it becomes necessary for them to fold their tents, but unlike the Arabs it will not be necessary for them to steal away."

The Clarksville, Tenn., Leaf-Chronicle

"Now that our good people know from actual experience just what are the possibilities of the Chautauqua movement they are unanimously agreed as to its great helpfulness to a community."

The Birmingham, Ala., Age-Herald says:

"The tent which holds over 2000 persons was well filled when the performance began last night and altho the weather was hot every part of the program was received with much enthusiasm. Indications are that from now on large crowds will patronize the chautauqua performances. The Redpath agency which is giving the program is well known as one of the foremost booking agencies of the world."

The Alpena, Mich., Echo: "When Mr. Rheinfrank asked those of the audience who would like a chautauqua in Alpena next year to stand, the entire audience arose. It was necessary to call an imposing vote."

The Battle Creek, Mich., Enquirer: "The Best

Ever Chautauqua grows more popular with each succeeding entertainment."

The Gary, Ind., Post: "It is doubtful if any chautauqua in any city has ever had such overwhelming success during its first year as the Redpath Chautauqua had here during its present engagement."

Chautauqua Week Here June 17 to June 23.

The amount, in cash or stamps, must accompany each article, or it age a line in ordinary reading and every separate character or initial letter counts as a word. The head-

CHAUTAUQUA SCENE AT BATTLE CREEK, MICH.

atives present from forty different states and ten foreign countries. The foreign countries represented were England, Mexico, Canada, Chile, France, Germany, India, Norway, Bohemia and Japan. This day from the Sanitarium.

There were in the audience 100 nurses and 800 guests from the Battle Creek Sanitarium.
From the School of Home Economics 100 girls were present. Thirty orphans from the Haskell Children's Home were also in attendance.
It is estimated that during the day 4,000 citizens of Battle Creek visited the Chautauqua.
The principal attraction of the day's program was Bohumir Kryl and his Band. The audience was a most enthusiastic one. Mr. Kryl was called upon to play four encores.

After reading this generous and encouraging report from O'Daniel those who have the misfortune to suffer, as he did, will naturally long same good as O'Daniel had, you are of course, other kidney pills but there are no other kidney pills the same as Doan's. That is why Hop-

Mrs. J. E. O'Daniel, 603 O'Neal fered from pains in my back and sides and other troubles caused by weak kidneys. Seeing Doan's Kidney Pills highly recommended in the papers, I got a box and used them as directed. They quickly cured me.

I know that they are the best kidney

Hung Jury.

The trial of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad company here on an indictment charging them with violation of the law in the failure to furnish their colored passengers with the same traveling accommodations and comforts in the way of coaches resulted in a hung jury.
This was one of several indictments returned at the March term of court against the Louisville & Nashville, and Tennessee Central railroads on the same grounds, but this was the first one to be tried. One of the chief objections to the present traveling accommodations offered by the railroads were coaches with only one toilet room are provided and this has to be used by both male and female passengers.

Known By Their Teams.

"The farmer's team is an advertisement of his farm says the Breeder's Gazette. Continuing this journal very aptly observes: "The advertising value of a pair of well-kept, vigorous farm mares with quality is not enough appreciated. On the road or in the furrow, work horses are constantly leaving impressions—not only of their intrinsic merits or demerits, but their owner's rank as a good farmer."

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH NO. 22.

Michael D. Kelly Who Came All The Way From Kanturk To Kentucky.

In the early part of the year 1860 a young man walked down the gang plank of a steamer docking at New York. A shamrock was in his buttonhole, his brogue was broad and rich and his face was an animated map of the Emerald Isle. If you have not already guessed who it was, we hasten to let out the secret. It was Michael D. Kelly, of Cork.

It was a lucky day for the United States, and especially for Hopkinsville, when Ireland lost a favorite son.

Mr. Kelly was born in Kanturk, county of Cork, long enough before 1860 to make it necessary for him to travel on a whole ticket. It is not important to be more explicit on the question of age.

After a few months in New York, the young man came west as far as Cincinnati and stopped five years and learned the jeweler's trade. Then he looked over the river one day while thinking of Kanturk and saw a land that reminded him of the old home beyond the sea. Old Kentucky looked good to him and he crossed the bridge and kept moving until he got to the best spot in the State of his adoption. Of course that brought him to Hopkinsville, and Dick Lovier, the old-time jeweler, looked him over and saw at a glance that he would do. He was put to work in the only jewelry store in town and stuck to his bench for a year. Then a strange thing happened. He became the first and only man ever known to leave Hopkinsville to make his home in Cadiz. But he had been drinking water out of the Rock Spring for twelve months and there is another chapter to this story. Mike didn't stay. He stuck it out for 17 years, but he came back. A few months after the Big Fire in 1882, Mike felt so sorry for the town that he decided to come back and help build it up. He brought a big bunch of Cadiz money with him, and this time nailed himself down by investing all he had in real estate. His next move was to go back to Cadiz about once a week until he induced one of the young ladies of that town to also take up her residence in Hopkinsville. Then he settled down to making money and he is still at it. He has two sons who "grow more like their dad every day." Tom is helping father save his money and Joe is off at school.

During the 30 years since Mr. Kelly has been in Hopkinsville, nobody has asked, "Has anybody here seen Kelly?" All these years he has been easy to find in the same stand opposite Court Square, and "The Old Reliable" bids fair to be there many years to come. He has found time to become a graduate optometrist under the noted Dr. Julius King, of Cleveland, Ohio, and as an optician he has few equals. In his dealings he belongs to that rare class of business men who would miss a sale rather than misrepresent. In discussing his policy not long ago he said: "I would rather be right than president of the United States, and if I was president now I would rather resign than approve or advocate the repeal of the free toll enactment of American coastwise ships on the Panama canal."

From this it will be seen that he is still an Irishman and doesn't want any extra favors shown to John Bull. As a business man and useful citizen, Mr. Kelly has made good, and like wine, improves with age. He used to have pictures taken with his hat on, but now he doesn't care and the photo presented with this article paints him polished dome and all.

STEVENSON IS NO MORE

Former Vice President Died In Chicago Saturday Night.

BORN IN CHRISTIAN COUNTY.

One of the Great Kentuckians Who Achieved Success In Another State.

Chicago, June 15.—Adlai E. Stevenson, Vice President of the United States through the second Cleveland administration, died Saturday night at a hospital after an illness of several months. His three children were at his bedside.

Adlai Ewing Stevenson, once Vice President of the United States, had a long, honorable public career. He was Vice President from 1893 to 1897 under President Grover Cleveland. In 1900 he was again nominated by the Democratic party for Vice President and ran with William J. Bryan, the party's candidate for President, but was defeated. He served as a member of the Forty-fourth and Forty-sixth Congresses. From 1885 to 1889 he served as First Assistant Postmaster General under President Cleveland.

His last appearance as a candidate for public office was in 1908 when he was nominated for Governor of Illinois by the Democratic party and was defeated by Charles S. Deneen, Republican.

He was born in Christian county, Ky., October 23, 1835, of Scotch-Irish parentage. In 1836 his parents moved to Bloomington, Ill. He attended the public schools and the Illinois University.

In 1866 he graduated from Centre College, Danville, Ky. There he was a classmate of Senator Joe Blackburn and other Kentucky youths who later became prominent in public life. He signaled the close of his college career by marrying a daughter of Dr. Lewis W. Green, president of the college.

Learn To Swim.

Already the news dispatches are giving accounts of drownings in the Ohio river. Nine times out of ten the person drowned did not know how to swim. It is the duty of every parent to see to it that his children are taught to swim.

Swimming is one of the most healthful and beneficial of sports.

In swimming muscles are brought into use that are rarely taxed at any other time. A person who once learns to swim will never forget it. It requires art, not strength to become an expert swimmer.

There is an added touch of sadness to the tragic accounts of the loss of the thousand people in the Empress of Ireland disaster. "The great majority of those saved knew how to swim," read the press dispatches. Scores of the men who had years ago been taught to swim did not dream when they boarded the liner that they would be forced to battle for their lives in the dark water of the St. Lawrence river. Even the lives of young girls who knew how to swim, were saved in the St. Lawrence river tragedy.

By all means children should not be deprived of the pleasure of swimming, and at the same time accomplish an art that some day may result in their not only saving their own lives, but the lives of others. —Owensboro Messenger.

Hopkinsville spent several thousand dollars a few years ago to construct a swimming pool in the city by damming Little River, which unfortunately for the public has not been allowed to be used this year.

SILAS BARBOUR

LABOR VOTE FOR STANLEY

Beckham Headquarters Concedes Loss of Organized Labor.

STILL CLAIM FARMERS' VOTE.

Governor McCreary an Interested Observer of The Alignment.

Louisville, Ky., June 15.—A development of the past week in Kentucky's political situation is the labor union strength that is being thrown behind Congressman Owsley Stanley in his race for the democratic senatorial nomination. At the headquarters of former Gov. J. C. Beckham here it is said by the former governor's lieutenants that surface indications point to Stanley's support by the labor unions of Louisville, but this is more than offset out in the State by the support that will fall to Beckham from farmers' and growers' alliances and great pooling organizations.

Meanwhile Gov. McCreary, who is a hot contender in the contest for the long term nomination, is sitting back in the boat, smiling serenely and calling on his friends—the two other candidates—"Please be careful, gentlemen; don't get violent or you may sink the boat."

Furious Runaway.

A horse hitched to George McKnight's surrey while standing at the Baptist church yesterday afternoon ran off and wrenched his way through the crowded streets to the corner of Eighth street where a wheel was knocked off a buggy belonging to Percy Smithson standing in the street and the surrey was wrecked by hitting an electric light pole. The horse broke loose from the wreck and was caught just before he ran into a store. Nobody was hurt, as the occupants got out when the horse became unruly.
